Considering the Council deems it important to send information to all households about matters of much less importance and the fact that there has been very little effort made to truly consult with the residents on the Masterplan; I was unaware of the meeting on the 12th November and I would suggest attendance numbers reflect the lack of knowledge of many others. I call upon the Council to hold a true public consultation.

Prior to this, I believe it is the Council's public duty to ensure that all households are made truly aware of your future plans and given an opportunity to express both their concerns and/or support. I find it odd that the recent change of bins seems to have carried more weight in terms of information given, than any future restructuring of Wimbledon Town Centre.
