Dear Sirs

I am writing to object to the concept of high rise (14+ stories) buildings in the town centre of Wimbledon.

Wimbledon is a delightful suburb of London, and it would be awful to transform the town centre into a mini-Croydon style centre.

I am also highly sceptical of your plans to add more retail outlets as the existing ones are struggling so much at the moment.

I note the Masterplan states that within the infrastructure plans, extra school facilities would be provided for the increase in children due to extra housing planned. But this is all very sketchy and I should like to feel sure that Merton really will provide this for the community.

Yours faithfully
