As an Apostle's resident and member of the Apostle's Resident Association, I am writing to object to the proposed boundaries as set out in this document. The new boundary removes most of the Apostles and nearly all the area south of the railway line from the Centre of Raynes Park, despite the fact this area is home to a very large proportion of the population of Raynes Park as well as the location of large number of the local businesses, small shops etc. I am very concerned as a resident that this will lead to continued and worsening neglect of the centre south of the railway line (e.g. the Skew Arch, overgrown and tatty railway land, unsightly advertising hoardings etc) while more money continues to be spent on the centre north of the railway line. The railway is an unfortunate dividing line through Raynes Park, and the Council, together with local resident's associations should be working to develop Raynes Park as a whole, not using this artificial and arbitrary line as a boundary to further divide the area in terms of development and resources.
