When Circle Housing Merton Priory began to plan for the Merton Standards upgrades for High Path, their investigations and studies raised doubts on whether these improvements alone could bring the homes and the neighbourhood up to an acceptable, modern standard.			Please note that the following questions relate to partial or full estate redevelopment. Should you decide to select the third option at Question 1, we would encourage you to respond to all the questions within this questionnaire as receiving all your feedback is important to us.

distrib	How should building heights be stributed through the High Path estate?		5 Are there any other issues or options we should consider regarding new homes?  Please feel free to continue on the sheet provided at the end of this questionnaire.
Currently building heights on High Path vary from two storey houses to 12 storey tower blocks. If the regeneration goes ahead, agreeing the height of new buildings will be important. That decision will need to take into account the relationship between High Path and the surrounding areas, local opinions, planning policies, how many homes are to be built and how to ensure there is enough open and green space for High Path to be a pleasant and attractive place to live.			9

	Retaining the historic street pattern and create traditional street forms	,
	Pincott Road, Nelson Grove Road and High Path are old streets that existed before the current estate was built and the buildings on them were demolished; this historic street pattern could be reinstated.
	Traditional street forms are streets that usually have buildings facing on to the street, on-street parking in front of properties and with street trees helping shape its feel and character. Nearby streets to the north and west of the estate, like Nelson Road, Victory Road, Brisbane Avenue and Queensland Avenue are good examples of this.
	Creating a mixture of types of buildings and spaces
	Similar to the existing layout with a mix of types of buildings and spaces that give the estate a different character from its surroundings.
